

Thessaloniki

November 2015: Thessaloniki, Greece's cultural capital and home to 1 million people is ranked by Lonely Planet as the 5th best party town in the world.

It's three-thousand-year history includes Byzantines, Ottomans and a large Jewish population that gave the city the name "Mother of Israel." Now a whole district of the city is included on the UNESCO World Heritage list.

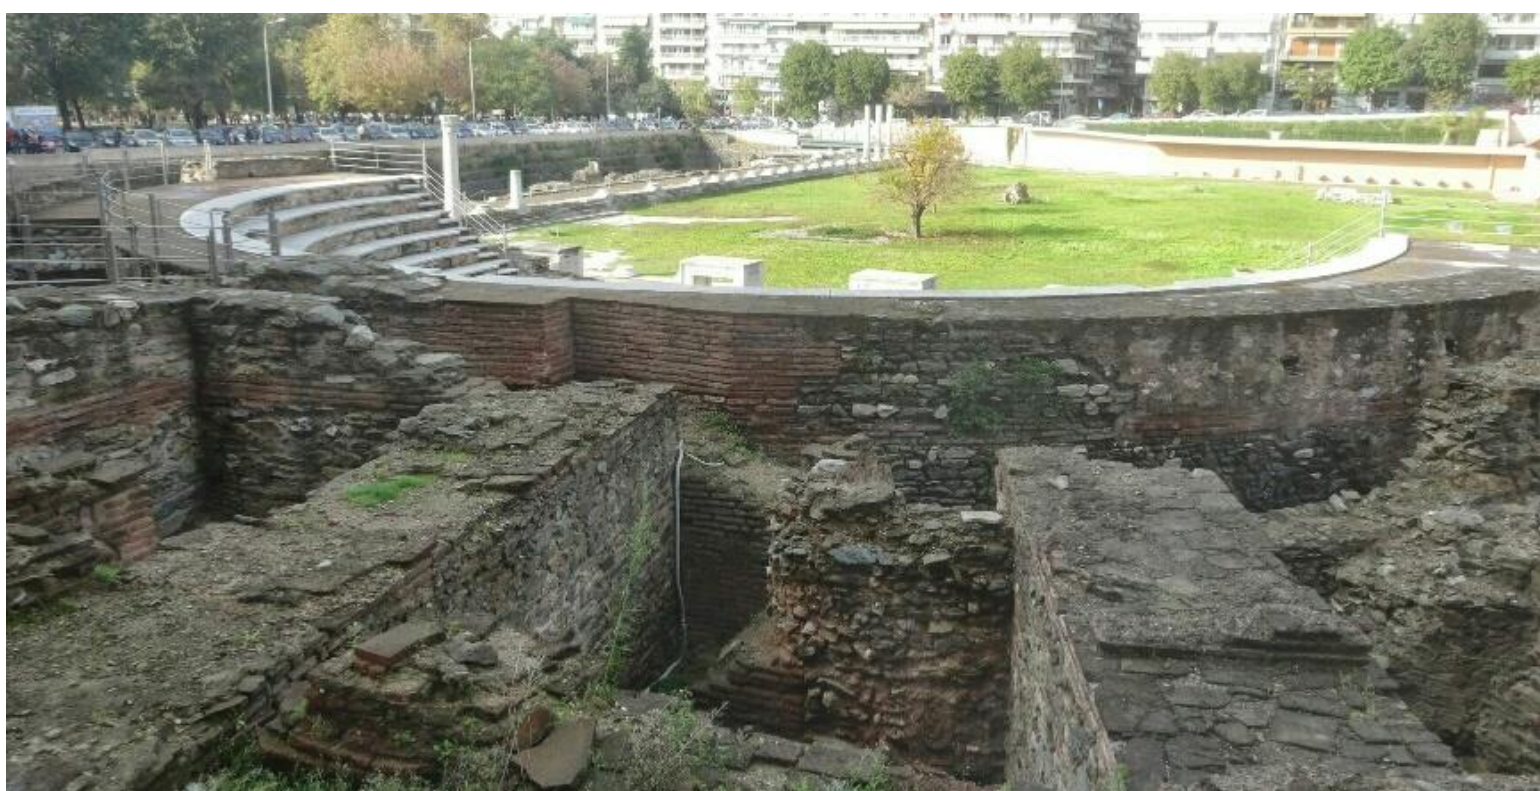

Early tomorrow I leave for Skopje, Macedonia passing through the Idomeni border crossing.
